NEW VETERINARY COLLEGE,

HAY-MARKET SQUARE,

NEAR MASON STREET.

---

W. S. JOHNSON,

Veterinary Surgeon and Professor of Animal Medicine, No. 15, Hawley place,

RETURNS his sincere thanks to the inhabitants of the city of Boston and its vicinity, for the very liberal encouragement he has received, and assures his friends and the public, that no exertion or attention on his part will be deficient to merit the patronage of those who may favor him with their support.

Dr. Johnson respectfully informs the public that the Veterinary College is now open for the reception of sick horses, and a range of forges for shoeing horses on scientific principles, and engages to keep them free from corns, contracted heels, thrushes, &c. three of the most formidable diseases to which the foot is subject, and which often prove the entire destruction of many hundred horses in this city, will not only be cured but prevented from returning.

N. B. As a report is in circulation that George D. Davis was a partner of mine, and that he learned his profession that he now pretends to practice under me, I do hereby give notice to the public, that he was not any thing else but groom to me, and as to the profession of a farrier or a shoeing smith he is unacquainted with the business.

W. S. JOHNSON, Veterinary Surgeon.
